Invited Talk

5. Opportunities and challenges

ALMA: what is it good for?

S. M. White

Air Force Research Lab.

A large number of solar researchers have now received ALMA science data, and have started their analysis, confronting the attendant difficulties as they do. This talk will present a personal viewpoint on what we can expect from ALMA data, and from joint use of ALMA data with other sources such as IRIS. I will likely make provocative claims in the hope of stimulating strong discussion and feedback.